NZ'S AUTHORITY ON FOOD TECHNOLOGY, RESEARCH AND MANUFACTURING

2019 MEDIA KIT

The official magazine of The New Zealand Institute of Food Science & Technology, (NZIFST)

Food New Zealand, New Zealand's most credible and informative magazine covering the food manufacturing industry, is published under contract to NZIFST.

It is a feature based publication which covers the industry from meat to dairy, produce to packaging and refrigeration to high pressure processing.

Nutrition, food safety, sensory and new product development are all featured.

The editor and writers in the magazine are food technologists or food scientists with extensive industry experience.

Each issue profiles a sector of industry, such as laboratory equipment, analytical services, ingredients, materials handling equipment, consumables and capital items.

Regular features include

News from NZIFST: member activities, conferences

Meat Industry Association News: FoodNZ is endorsed by the MIA and carries its regular news for members

Reports from Crown Research Institutes and Universities on activities in food science and technology, including engineering, microbiology, research into new preservation technology, digestion, nutrition and food production, for example.

Packaging Developments: NZIFST is allied with the Australian Institute of Packaging and FoodNZ is mailed to all New Zealand members of AIP.

News from the Oils and Fats Group of the NZ Institute of Chemistry.

The FoodNZ Scientific review board enables the occasional publication of peer reviewed papers.

Why advertise in Food New Zealand?

Food NZ is unique in the marketplace because it is the official magazine of the New Zealand Institute of Food Science and Technology (NZIFST).

NZIFST is the premier professional association for those working in the technical/production/research area of the New Zealand food industry.

The magazine is individually addressed and mailed to all members of the Institute plus others with active interest in the food industry including those who contribute through research, government and other bodies engaged in the industry, including suppliers.

Readers include technical managers, senior management, NPD professionals, sensory scientists and nutritionists, regulators, educators, scientists and analytical technicians.

Readership is closely targeted to food industry technical and science professionals.

Food New Zealand covers all facets of the food manufacturing and production industry.

High quality, full colour, A4 format
